According to the firm's recent press release, Grant Thornton LLP Canada is now Doane Grant Thornton LLP – one of Canada's leading assurance, tax and business advisory Firms. The press release says that “we made this change to our name because of the importance we place on our presence in communities across Canada, combined with the power of being a member of Grant Thornton International's global network of resources. By reintroducing Doane – the Firm's founding partner – to our name, we honour our Canadian roots and the values that have driven our success for more than 85-years. We'll continue paving a path to make even stronger contributions to the businesses we support and the communities we live and work in.”

"Building a legacy isn't just about the work we do – it's about the people, the values and the impact we leave behind," says Kevin Ladner, CEO and Executive Partner, Doane Grant Thornton. "Doane Grant Thornton is more than just a new name. It's our commitment to helping Canadian businesses reach their highest potential; it's our dedication to supporting the communities in which we live and work; and it's a promise to help our colleagues succeed in their unique career journeys."

Doane Grant Thornton reflects our evolution and future vision, but it doesn't change our commitment to helping Canadian businesses grow, transition and thrive, Ladner continued. “Our strategic advisors combine experience, innovation, and analysis to help clients make sense of the most pressing business challenges and industry trends while unlocking new opportunities.
